

The Story

(A dramatic narrative, done very dramatic)

Faraway and Long ago in a Kingdom tucked away in a Gentle Shire just over the Dale, there lived a King high above in a castle. The King of Zionia.

His rule had prospered the Shire and the people lived in a quiet and peaceful existence.

The Lord in his Great Wisdom had revealed to the King through HIS WORD, that following prosperous times may come times of famine, times of trouble, times of drought.

So the King knew that he must seek out someone who could manage the Storehouses to make sure there would be food to last throughout such a time. A Royal Storehouse Regent.

Someone who was honest, dependable, caring and above all else, a Gatherer. And once found, they would have to endure a test, an ancient test, and it would prove to the King, that the person was indeed the One that the Lord had led him to chose.
